IDENTIFY THE RED FLAGS

Questions to ask yourself to determine if the suspicious email or text is legitimate...

1. Does the subject line lure you into urgency, asking you to act fast?
2. Does the content evoke emotion, making you feel that you must act immediately?
3. Did it come at an unusual time outside of business hours?
4. Are there typos or grammatical errors?
5. Can you verify the sender, or does the email address look shady?

Stay alert and stay skeptical!

Listen to your intuition, and don't take any action requested in an email or text unless you are confident the communication is legitimate.

Teach your child to always run it by you if they aren't sure before clicking on any link or following any action.
